Dear Anita and Dan,

I just want to thank you both for everything that you've done, for your kindness, patience, encouragement and for your outstanding theater camp workshop which was truly a wonderful experience for me. It not only built up my knowledge, love, experience and skills of acting, boosted my admittedly low self-esteem and made me a little more outgoing, but also showed me that not all kids my age are complete monsters, an unfair thought that I'm afraid I have harbored for some time as I'm really quite a shy person and have been home schooled for almost my whole life and so haven't been around very many kids my age, not many kids at all really. I have gained a few terrific friends from the camp, something I believe has been very good for me.

Thank you so much for helping us out with our silly little Hamlet skit... The day we won that grand prize trophy at the talent show was one of the happiest of my life. I was ecstatic, surrounded by my new smart, kind friends, being applauded for our silly little skit in which it was my job to prance around being goofy, being in beautiful Bandon amid sunshine and laughter and then, amazingly, winning that enormous shiny trophy. Please know that I was filled with sheer bliss at winning but it would been more than enough to just have been there and been performing, just wonderful enough that people like you had encouraged and helped us put together something that people found entertaining, it was wonderful enough that people like you had brought all us crazy kids together and brought out the best in us. I think its wonderful what you're doing: showing kids that they can get up and do something fun, something cool, something talented that is all their own.

Growing up is a stressful and disheartening thing at times but your camp brightened and lightened things considerably and turned all those chaotic feelings that us young people have to creative and constructive purposes and we had a blast! Thank you ever so much for giving me such a priceless bunch of gifts:

- Friendship
- Socialization
- Creativity
- Pride
- Self-Esteem
- Knowledge
- Fun
- And Happiness.

I hope I'll be able to come to another one of your marvelous workshops

Take care and keep up the good work!

Natalie Taylor (The silly, short, blonde girl who played Hamlet)

Sincerely,

Natalie Taylor (The silly, short, blonde girl

Dear Dan & Anita,

I wanted to say how glad I was to have the opportunity to meet both of you on Sunday. I can certainly see why your theater students enjoy working with you in the New Artists Productions. The enthusiasm for your craft is very apparent, and it shows in the students, as well.

I very much enjoyed the production of "Dream," A Salute to Fred Astaire." I thought it showed great creativity.

Again, I would like to offer my services with your organization, whether it would be playing the piano or vocally coaching the students. Please keep me in mind if you feel I could assist you in the future.

Sincerely,

Information: 541-347-2517

"New Artists Productions" is a non-profit 501(c)(3) corporation dedicated to the introduction of new young artists to the fields of the performing arts. The existence of this corporation is founded on the premise that there abounds considerable young talent needing an opportunity to be recognized. "New Artists" seeks to encourage young talent in the pursuit of theater arts while developing Self-awareness, Self-worth, and Self-confidence. We offer our program at no cost to the students who participate. "High Tide Players" and "Low Tide Players" are enterprises of "New Artists Productions."

Thank you so much for all that you do. Love you lots. ☺

The Beast Castle in Beauty and the Beast is an image for all to remember. It must look far away, appear to be on a hill top or mountain side. A concept difficult to capture on one stage. It must also be easily removable to not be present in other scenes.

In our production, I wanted the castle to appear 3 dimensional. I did not want to just paint a flat or screen. So, I painted a series of foam core panels. Three in all. A rear back panel which was the largest and widest, a center section, middle size, and a front panel which was still narrower.

I connected them together with large styrofoam spacers to make each stand apart about 3 inches. Some wooden handles on the back made it easy to pick up and carry away when it was out of the scene.

Each layer when painted was cut around the outside to conform to the edge of the drawing giving it height, width, and depth.]

In all, the castle stood nearly 8 feet tall about 4 feet in width and looked quite realistic. It's interesting to note that many of our set pieces are desirable to people who see our shows. Some items I keep for future use, however I just don't have space to keep very many. Beauty's Castle is now standing in the Sprague Community Theater managers office. He liked it and I was flattered he wanted to keep it.

Mulan required a temple for the Ancestors to reside. A pagoda was envisioned but it had to be kept simple and flyable. So I started with the sketch above with the Ancestors standing behind their monuments.

To make the design easier to fabricate, I developed the a lattice of 1x2 strips joined at all intersection with 3/16 plywood panel pieces for safety. The painting is on cardboard which is finally cut and stapled on the framework.

The horizontal beam and posts are also cardboard stapled to a 1x2 wood frame and connected with "C" couplings and threaded "eye" screws.
